Bismarck and His Dog.

"My dog! Where is my dog?" were Prince Bismarck's first words on alighting on the platform of the Wes, babu Railway station last night, and, sure enough, there he was, the sleek quadruped who so seriously imperiled the precious existence of Prince Gortschakoff dur.

ing the Congress. With a bound, Saltan, who had traveled second class, was at his master's side, covering him with boisterous manifestations of cauine affection, and not taking the slightest notice of Count Andrassy and Prince Reuss, who kept a respectable distance until Sultan had satisfied himself that the Prince was noue the worse for his journey. The meeting between Court Andrassy and his illustrious guest was a cordial one, and arm in arm they walked to the cours carriage, a private brougham of the Enmarck to the hotel where he is staying.

Hardly were the two statesmen seated and ready to start ere down west the window on the near side, and a stentorian voice oried out, 'Meia bund! Wo ist meia bund?" thing had betalien that blessed dog while Princs Bismarck's attention was momentarily turned in another direction, it is my firm belief that t would have been all up with the Austro-German alliance and the incensed Chancellor would have taken the next train back to Ber-Sultan, is, however, an experienced traveler, and has a very good notion of how to take care of himself. In a twinkling he was at the carriage door, and, assisted by two court flunkoys, he sedately took his seat on the rug at the feet of the two gentlemen inside. Judge of the stupefaction of the crowd assembled outside the Hotel Imperial on seeing the four legged occupant of the court brougham leap out with a bark, and, contrary to all etiquette, great the nearest bystanders in a most unpleasantly demonstraive style. I never saw such a ridiculous sight in my life. People fied in all directions, for Sultan has a bad reputation. He nearly apset the congress by an unjustifiable attack upon the Russian

THE BETTER WAY .- A few days ago Justice of the Peace Weber took his little son down to Toledo on an excursion. The lad interviewed the man at the wheel and gathered much information relative to the business of steamboating. Presently his father joined him on the hurricane deck, and asked him how he was en-joing himself. 'First rate,' was the enthusias-tic reply. "I'm going to be a steamboat man, pape." "All right," responded the judge, "but you'll have to study navigation, astronomy and divers other sciences, in order to become a good one." The lad said nothing more at the time, but appeared to be revolving the difficulties of the case in his mind. Perhaps half an hour later, he remarked, with much gravity: "Papa I guess in won't be a steamboat man. I rather be a justice of the peacy, you don't have to

koow anything for that." BLACK CASHMERES AND ALPACAS
